Introduction

This walking tour will take you through the streets of Singapore's fun and energetic Chinatown.

The walk will reveal the many sides of this historic area, revealing its ancestral heritage,

the vibrancy of its shops and streets and the tranquillity of its temples.

We start the tour hunting for bargains amongst the bustling street stalls of pedestrian Pagoda Street, before taking a wander through the many beautiful places of worship that epitomise multi-cultural Singapore.

We'll spend some time exploring the life teachings of Buddha at the stunning Buddha Tooth Relic Temple and Museum, before heading into a traditional wet market to get in amongst the locals bargaining for fresh seafood, fruits and vegetables.

Along the way, you'll learn about the history of the area's former residents, the culture of the current residents, and we'll find some time to check out some of the most interesting shops and try out the local cuisine too.

It's little wonder that Chinatown is usually the first stop for tourists in Singapore!
