Introduction

This walking tour of Singapore's Colonial District takes you through the very heart of the city.

We start the tour surrounded by the soaring skyscrapers of the city's financial district before taking a walk back in time to the very beginning of modern Singapore.

This walk will not only provide a glimpse into the city's beginnings, it will also reveal some of the most picturesque perspectives of Singapore.

It will take you past some of the city's most famous landmarks, give you the opportunity to admire some stunning examples of colonial architecture,

and enjoy a leisurely stroll along the Singapore River.

Not only this, but you'll learn a bit about the early residents of Singapore, as well as the country's role in World War II, along the way.

We'll end the tour with something that should be on every visitor's to-do list:

enjoying a Singapore Sling in the Long Bar at world-famous Raffles Hotel.
